

Bobby Bakshi

Having grown up and worked in several countries, Bobby is truly a global citizen and is seen as a bridge between cultures and differences. He finds patterns few can discover and opens people up to new insights and powerful outcomes. Bobby is known for being courageously empathetic, with breadth and depth of experience to meet the leadership challenges of our times.

Bobby has had two careers--first in Market Research and Insights and over a decade in Leadership Development. He was at Microsoft for almost a decade, followed by executive leadership roles at technology and professional services companies. Bobby's understanding and depth of expertise in Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Belonging come from his blended experience, including over a decade as a volunteer leader with the global non-profit, The ManKind Project. He receives very high feedback ratings for guiding leaders through a range of challenging topics.
